Late summer escapes

From luxury family lodges to characterful boutique retreats, take your pick of our experts' favourite hotels

DEAL OF THE WEEK
The Goring gourmet breakfast from £295pp

Located near Buckingham Palace, The Goring has long been a favourite among the great and good, from the late Queen Elizabeth the Queen Mother to the Duchess of Cambridge. A special package has been created for Telegraph readers, who will receive a three-course dinner with carefully selected wines in

The Dining Room, breakfast, a glass of champagne on arrival and a night's stay in a King room (based on two people sharing).

Our expert says: "Stylish redecoration has finished with the unveiling of its ravishing new Front Hall, clad with hand-painted wallpaper of exotic animals (some caricatures of staff and owners) in a romantic English landscape." Book by August 28 for weekend stays (Friday, Saturday and Sunday) until March 2016. Quote "Telegraph"; 0333 005 9182; telegraph.co.uk/thegoringoffer

Clivedon champagne cruise from £198pp

Telegraph Travel has teamed up with Clivedon House to offer readers a night's stay (based on two people sharing) at one of Berkshire's finest – and most historic – hotels, which is part of the National Trust collection. The offer includes a champagne cruise along the Clivedon Reach, as well as a full English breakfast.

Our expert says: "The former home of several dukes, a Prince of Wales and Nancy Astor, Clivedon is one of Britain's grandest hotels. It's set in beautiful formal gardens and parkland. When Chewton Glen took over the management in 2012, this was a hotel in decline. It has since been transformed into something very special."

Set amid acres of woodland, the hotel's setting belies its accessible location, less than an hour's drive from London and close to the Buckinghamshire village of Taplow.

This offer includes a night in a Club room (subject to availability), full English breakfast and a champagne river cruise, including a complimentary glass of bubbly. Book by August 28 for stays throughout August and September (Sunday to Thursday only, excluding bank holidays). Quote "Telegraph"; 0333 005 9179; telegraph.co.uk/clivedenoffer

Take advantage of an exclusive Mr & Mrs Smith deal, whereby Telegraph readers can enjoy 30 per cent off stays at boutique hotel Corral del Rey until the end of August, including breakfast, from £153.

Our expert says: "It's a classy affair with fine art on the walls amid marble, Romantic-style pillars, wooden beams and state-of-the-art lighting.

"The 18 glamorous rooms are arranged around a central patio and the staff are amazingly helpful."

Palma has a host of pretty boutique hotels, and among the best is Hotel Cort. Mr & Mrs Smith is offering Telegraph readers 20 per cent off stays of two nights or more, including breakfast and a two-course set menu with wine (based on two people sharing, from £492 per night).

The offer is valid for a stay in one of the Suite rooms, which our destination guide expert says are "Mediterranean seaside-chic" in style.

She also says: "This is a stylish, small boutique hotel with individually designed rooms in the centre of Palma."

"The lively bar, restaurant and terrace mean you feel right in the swing of the city from the word go – with no stuffy hotel stiffness."

Two-night Natural Retreats stay from £299 per lodge

Eco-friendly doesn't have to mean camping. You can bring all the family (and dogs) back to nature at Natural Retreats in the Yorkshire Dales, where Telegraph readers can save 12.5 per cent on standard rates for three-bedroom lodges.

Set amid 55 acres of rugged moors and rolling dales, the timber-framed cabins are a lesson in eco-chic.

Our expert says: "Natural Retreats is a cross between an unusually smart self-catering and a hotel inasmuch as there are concierges, with whom you could chat online in advance to plan whatever you want; from spa appointments to restaurant reservations."

A two-night stay costs from £299 based on a family (up to six) sharing a three-bedroom lodge. The package includes two hampers, including an Albert Matthews breakfast basket. Book by August 28 for stays until March 2016. Quote "Telegraph"; 0333 005 9183; telegraph.co.uk/naturalretreatsoffer
